The Pastoral Perspective

How do you pray?

A simple question, with no right answer.

Each of us prays in his or her own way. Sometimes, we say the words that come to us from nowhere, inspired by the Holy Spirit. Other times, we offer up the words of a written prayer, like that taught to us by Jesus. We might find our prayers are sharp, focused, satisfying. We might find that they are nebulous, aimless, without form, a source of frustration.

Prayer is a discipline. It takes work and practice. The more we do it, the better we will be at it. As with anything else worth doing, we need to make a commitment to prayer.

Our Deacons have re-committed themselves to this discipline, and they would like you to join them. One way to do so is to become a member of the Prayer Team. Each week the Prayer Team lifts up the names of members of the congregation, their relatives and friends, and their issues of concern. You can always ring me up or be in touch with one of the Deacons if you'd like to submit a prayer concern, which we can hold in confidence if you like. You can also leave a note for the Prayer Team in the church office or in the Joys and Concerns book in the Sanctuary. Soon we will have an email box to which you can submit prayer requests.

Perhaps you will feel called to be part of this ministry. We would love that! At the least, I hope you will join us in renewing your prayer life. During Advent we will offer a workshop on prayer—how to do it, what it means, why it's important. This should be a great opportunity to focus on one of the oldest disciplines we share as Christians.

Prayer is an integral part of the life of faith. I hope—and pray—that you will find it to be so in your life, and that you will do so in the company of others here at First Congregational Church.

Yours faithfully,

Steve

COMMITTEE NOTES

BOARD OF GOVERNORS

The Board of Governors has assessed and completed several assorted projects around the church.

Wayne Braley has presented a railing design for the chancel steps and will complete it when his work schedule allows. He also arranged for Valley Floors to submit an estimate for refinishing the Sanctuary floor. Nan Parsons is working on getting quotes for carpeting and cushions. Brandon Mason is coordinating with insulation contractors to improve our energy efficiency throughout the building.

Walter Scott has patched the cracks on the front walk, and while he's disappointed that the fills themselves have started cracking, all agreed that it looks better than before. Sealing the entire walk will help the longevity of these repairs. John Gilliatt has improved the front yard with some landscape maintenance before winter. It's possible that the Scouts may assist with a fall cleanup around the grounds, but the Board agreed we don't need a full effort from the congregation.

At the Parsonage, we received one estimate of $5000 for chimney repairs and flue liner installation, but we will get at least one other before proceeding. Other repairs at the parsonage have come out quite well. In August, however, there was a significant sewage backup in the laundry room, requiring emergency repairs by Stearns Septic. The cause was root infiltration along the sewer line, and further investigation will determine if additional maintenance is necessary.

CHURCH COUNCIL

Reporting to Council for Mission and Social Action, Corrine Erskine noted that we hope soon to have a guest speaker on immigration issues. She also noted the possibility that Barb Jones would offer a class using UVIP's curriculum on Aging with Dignity, although Barb's co-leader Sue Pratt has gone south for the winter. Several wondered if UVIP could suggest other opportunities for the class.

For Stewardship, Jon Scott reported that through three quarters of the year, we are at roughly the halfway point in pledge projections. That isn't so unusual, as pledge payments often lag during the summer and many plan charitable giving late in the year. Stewardship Sunday will happen in November, after the annual pledge mailing. Council agreed that it would be helpful to send year-to-date contribution statements to all (whether they made a 2017 pledge or not), either by email or regular mail.

Valerie Nevel reported on a recent meeting of the Trustees and Finance Committee, noting that Trustee transfers were outpacing the expected schedule for the year. We are still drawing from investment income at a responsible rate, however. Valerie offered to present a Stewardship moment in worship to encourage the congregation to provide for FCC in estate planning. Treasurer Terry Ellison reported that the first three quarters of the year showed no areas of particular concern in our budget.

Brian Clancy promoted the Music at the Meetinghouse fall series, making special mention of LOH on Location, our new collaboration with the Lebanon Opera House, which is handling ticketing and publicity for these two events. Details of our financial arrangement with LOH aren't yet confirmed, but at the very

Giving in Community: Sharing God's Gifts with One Another

Each fall we are encouraged to recognize the many gifts, large and small, that we receive from our amazingly generous God. As we approach Stewardship Sunday this year, we'll be exploring Acts 4-5, with its stories of remarkable sharing and shocking selfishness. Giving, lying, trust, community—it's all here. We'll see how the first church dealt with these issues and explore the lessons we might draw as we consider our own stewardship and engagement with the church, as individuals and as a community.

STEWARDSHIP SUNDAY IS NOVEMBER 19. Please consider your commitment, prayerfully and honestly, to our church's mission and ministry in 2018, and join us as we dedicate our pledges this month.

COMMITTEE NOTES

least we are assured of covering our operational costs of hosting these concerts, while also drawing an expanded audience here. Building on this, Steve Silver noted his desire to explore the creation of a cultural district around the Green, working with LOH, AVA Gallery, and our new neighbor, UVMC.

Marcia Corkins noted that Christian Ed would be serving this month's Community Dinner. Council then discussed the monthly dinners in general, noting declining attendance and the ongoing challenge of finding new volunteers to lead each month. Some wondered whether it could be promoted more widely than by the banner and word-of-mouth, which have typically sufficed in the past to draw a regular crowd. All were reminded of the availability of funds to reimburse dinner expenses; meal organizers have seldom asked for such reimbursement.

In his pastor's report, Steve Silver noted enthusiastic attendance for his sabbatical presentation after worship on October 15. He will be offering a talk in November on the Protestant Reformation, based on his Oxford coursework this summer. He has also arranged for the Grafton-Orange-Sullivan Association to hold its annual meeting here on Sunday, November 19. The Association will elect officers and hear from interim conference minister Charles Buck regarding the search for a permanent minister. Also in November, the Deacons will once again lead Sunday afternoon services at Genesis.

Looking outward in our community, Steve noted that a weekly vigil in Colburn Park has been initiated by supporters of the Black Lives Matter movement. While we're not directly involved in the vigils, their proximity across the street encourages us as a congregation to engage this critical social issue and perhaps take a more official position on the matter. Similarly, Steve noted that the Boy Scouts' decision nationally to include girls would prompt our own Troop 279 to consider how to accommodate this change. While FCC need not adopt any official position on its own, it's important as a charter organization to be sensitive to this development as Troop 279 responds. Steve also confirmed that UVIP's effort to create an alternative loan program has been tabled.

Steve raised the need to plan for a capital campaign in the next year, considering the opportunity of our congregation's 250th anniversary in 2018. Council agreed that such a campaign is advisable, provided that the congregation would collectively identify clear objectives and purposes for funds to be raised. Renovation of our kitchen, for example, would be a logical goal given its frequent use for church and community functions. (Aside from the kitchen, it was noted that our physical plant overall is in relatively good condition.) Valerie Nevel asked whether a feasibility study would be done, primarily to determine how the campaign would be staffed and supervised.

The campaign conversation raised the topic of budget preparations for 2018. Having not yet participated in annual budget planning, Terry Ellison asked what the process has been in previous years. All agreed that budget preparation should happen earlier (before the end of the calendar year) and involve a larger group of people than it has in the recent past. While the Board of Governors has already identified some budget items for 2018, it was recommended that other committees provide more explicit input about programming and other needs.

To request reimbursement, dinner leaders should submit receipts to the church office.

COMMITTEE NOTES

Lastly, Council recognized the need to support the Mission and Social Action account with designated mission funds in the Dole Trust.

DIACONATE

At their October meeting Deacons discussed their responsibility for collecting Sunday offering, which should involve two counters to avoid errors and accountability concerns. They also addressed funding for the Open Door Ministry. Suggestions for increasing donations to this ministry include telling recipients' stories anonymously; informing congregants that they can donate at any time and that any participation matters (including prayer); changing communion envelopes to designate the Open Door Ministry; dedicating more space in the bulletin; and reminding the congregation on the last Sunday each month to consider giving to this collection the following Sunday. Biff Simpson also offered the services of Valley Improv to hold a fundraising dinner and a show.

Discussion of the Ministry of Caring included developing a structured approach to sharing a list of prayer concerns. Primary communication will be by email to deacons and other members of the congregation who wish to participate. (Some other format will be used for those who don't use email.) All were reminded to call and check on those not at Sunday worship, to send cards and pray for those members of our community. Transportation needs seem to be covered at this time, but publicizing specific requests as they occur was recommended. Several deacons and others are working on providing shawls for the Prayer Shawl Ministry; Linda Jacobs also asked for participation in making scarves for community dinner guests.

This year's CROP Walk drew 72 participants. FCC hosted our traditional meal for walkers with soups provided by Jim Oronte and the Lebanon Diner. More advance notice and recruitment were recommended to increase turnout.

Steve Silver reminded the Deacons that we have agreed to lead services at Genesis in November. We have been asked to do this again next year, and it was recommended that we commit again for November.

Deacons expressed concern about having four services on Christmas Eve, which falls on a Sunday this year. Steve expressed appreciation for the Deacons' help with these services, but he does not wish to eliminate any of them due to their particular appeal for attendees.

The Mission and Social Action Committee has expressed strong interest in FCC's presentation of UVIP's curriculum on Aging with Dignity. Steve will make an announcement from the pulpit to discern the congregation's interest, considering a five-week commitment on the part of participants. Barb Jones suggested an informational meeting and will ask for help from other facilitators, since Sue Pratt has left for Florida. Deacons also warmly congratulated our UVIP Micah Award winner this year, Kathy Beckett.

With church members in rapt attention, Steve Silver recounts his sabbatical experiences—from Atlanta to Oxford and everywhere in between.

UVIP Micah Awards Ceremony—"Local Heroes, Local Foods"

Sunday, November 12, 2:00 pm, Claremont Senior Center

FCC's Kathy Beckett will join other UVIP honorees on November 12 at the Claremont Senior Center (5 Acer Heights Road, Claremont). This annual "Local Heroes, Local Foods" event offers UVIP member groups and supportive businesses and non-profits a chance to connect and build support for community engagement. FCC has a limited number of tickets available for anyone who would like to attend—$30 in advance, $35 at the door ($10 in either case for children 13 and under); proceeds support the vital work of UVIP. Assistance is available for anyone wishing to attend; please contact Steve Silver or the church office.

Our Open Door Ministry

Supporting Our Community, One Gift Card at a Time

Throughout the year, our neighbors come to the church office seeking assistance. Whether it's a tank of gas for the car, some food for dinner, or a contribution toward rent or the electric bill, our congregation is able to help, thanks to the Open Door Ministry. Available to anyone in greater Lebanon, this is one of the most vital services we extend to our community.

We don't ask questions about need or use; the Open Door is just that. We do ask that people wait between four and six months between their requests, only because the overall need is great. We never have enough money to help all those who need assistance, and that's not an exaggeration—it's the truth. While FCC has responded to these needs for years, demand for assistance has increased considerably in the recent past.

Those who seek help from us haven't been irresponsible or lazy, and the clear majority of them (about 80%) request assistance just once or twice. With just a handful of exceptions in the past several years, they don't become dependent or try to take advantage of the program. Some are chronically homeless; some have just been evicted for reasons beyond their control. Sometimes they've just moved to the area and need a hand getting started; sometimes they've lost a job or just started a new one. Some are driving to and from the hospital more often because they're caring for a sick family member; some have been referred to us by a counselor at WISE. So many of our neighbors in the Upper Valley need our help.

The Open Door is kept open by contributions to the monthly Communion Offering, from which the Diaconate purchases of $25 gift cards for gas and food from JAKE'S and PRICE CHOPPER, respectively. This is supplemented by the Mission and Social Action Fund (from the Dole Trust), which provides assistance in modest amounts for rent and utilities. In any of these cases, our ability to support those in need depends on you, our congregation. Because you give each month to the communion offering, we can help a lot of people. We hope you'll participate in this vital act of stewardship, this month and in the months that follow.

Your neighbors thank you! For more details, please contact your Deacon or the church office.
